The Phantom of the Rue Morgue

And so it ends—another year at Maxson, and with it one, two, and for some, three years of memories. There were those first days at Maxson—making new friends, adjusting to new classes, and, of course, being caught in the rush between bells. Remember all the fun at the Christmas and St. Patrick's Day dances and at our sporting events? Who can forget the cafeteria and its familiar whistle, or the gym on Wednesdays? Remember the ninth grade play and trying to get into the library fifth period?

Now seventh graders look forward to being eighth graders and a chance to display their superior knowledge of Maxson to a new class. Eighth graders can't wait to be "tops." And the ninth graders—they see a lot ahead, but in the near future, of course, high school. Also, they carry the distinction of being the first class to go all the way through M.J.H.S., and they take a certain pride in this. Yes, for each of us this year has special memories. Some of these will be recalled to you on the following pages and you will recognize yourself and your friends as the yearbook staff of Maxson presents to you—
